1. Purpose

In compliance with paragraph 3.84(a) of the JSE Listings Requirements and Part V of the King IV Report on Governance for South Africa 2016 (“King IV”) this policy (“the Policy”) summarises the framework for ensuring that Reunert Limited (“the Company”) maintains a balance of power and authority in respect of its board of directors (“the Board”) and that no one director has unfettered powers of decision making.

This Policy is reviewed and updated annually by the nomination and governance committee (“the Committee”) and approved by the Board, with or without further amendment, as the Board deems appropriate. If the review and approval of a new Policy is delayed for any reason, the previous version of the Policy shall remain valid until a new version is approved by the Board.

2. Background

Relevant requirements applicable to the balance of power of the Board are highlighted below:

2.1 JSE Limited Listings Requirements

The JSE Limited Listings Requirements prescribe that:

- there must be a policy evidencing a clear balance of power and authority at board of directors’ level, to ensure that no one director has unfettered powers of decision-making; and
- the issuer must have an appointed chief executive officer and a chair and these positions must not be held by the same person. The chair must either be an independent non-executive director, or the issuer must appoint a lead independent director, in accordance with King IV.

2.2 King IV has the following applicable principles and recommended practices

- The board should comprise the appropriate balance of knowledge, skills, experience, diversity and independence for it to discharge its governance role and responsibilities objectively and effectively.
- When determining which of its committees the chair of the board should serve on, either as member or chair, the board should consider how this affects the overall concentration and balance of power on the board. Generally, the following should apply:
 - the chair should not be a member of the audit committee;
 - the chair may be a member of the remuneration committee;
 - The chair should be a member of the nomination committee and may also be its chair;
 - the chair may be a member of the risk committee and may also be its chair;
 - the chair may be a member of the social, ethics and transformation committee, but should not be its chair.
- The board should ensure that its arrangements for delegation within its own structures promote independent judgement, and assist with balance of power and the effective discharge of its duties.
- The board should determine if and when to delegate particular roles and responsibilities to an individual member or members, or to standing or ad hoc-committees. The exercise of judgement by the board is subject to legal requirements and should be guided by what is appropriate for the organisation and achieving the objectives of the delegation.
- Delegation to an individual member or members of the board should be recorded in writing and approved by the board. The record should set out the nature and extent of the responsibilities delegated, decision-making authority, the duration of the delegation, and the delegates’ reporting responsibilities.

- Delegation to committees should be recorded by means of a formal terms of reference that should be approved and reviewed annually by the board. The board should consider the allocation of roles and associated responsibilities and the composition of membership across committees holistically, so as to achieve the following:
 - effective collaboration through cross-membership, where required; coordinated timing of meetings; and avoidance of duplication or fragmented functioning in so far as possible;
 - where more than one committee has jurisdiction to deal with a similar matter, the specific role and positioning of each committee in relation to such matter are defined to ensure complementary rather than competing approaches;
 - a balanced distribution of power in respect of membership across committees, so that no individual has the ability to dominate decision-making, and no undue reliance is placed on any individual; and
 - the committee for remuneration should be chaired by an independent non-executive member.

Paragraphs 3 to 6 apply to support the balance of power in respect of the Company's Board:
